Washington, DC – Today, Congressman Bruce Braley (IA-01), Chairman of the House Populist Caucus, announced the new leadership team of the Caucus for the 112th Congress.

Rep. Braley will stay on as Chairman of the Populist Caucus. Rep. Betty Sutton (OH-13) will return as Vice Chair of Recruitment and Member Outreach and Rep. Peter DeFazio (OR-04) will return as Vice Chair of Communications. Joining the Populist Caucus in new leadership roles, Rep. Donna Edwards (MD-04) will serve as Vice Chair of New Media and Rep. Rosa DeLauro (CT-03) will serve as Whip Vice Chair.

“I’m thrilled that we’ve been able to put together this strong, dynamic leadership team for the 112th Congress,” said Braley. “I know that with these individuals on board, the Populist Caucus will be in a better position than ever to strengthen the middle class, create jobs and fight for hard-working Americans. I look forward to a very productive Congress.”
